smilax, while great foamy chrysanthemums covered the wall, making one of the most beautiful and artistic appointments of the ball-room.

Before a bank of ferns and smilax, Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast received their guests. Mrs. Prendergast wore a handsome gown of black satin with an overdress of white and black jet, cut decollete. After the guests had assembled, Parker's six-piece orchestra played the overture, screened behind ferns and smilax, and played a program of twenty dances. During the intermissions delicious refreshments were served buffet fashion.

Get Rid Of Your Cold---

IT'S EASY

Take this from the Rexall man—more costly and fatal effects are the direct result of what is generally considered a harmless cold than any one other of the minor affections. But a cold is rendered almost harmless if you get one of the new vest pocket size boxes of Rexall cold tablets and begin taking the as soon as you first begin to feel the cold symptoms. One box generally is sufficient to ward off several colds in their beginning and one is enough to cure a full grown cold of the worst type.

One of these boxes are so easy to carry with you and the tablets are so effective that there is no reason in the world why any one who knows about this remedy should have a cold.

Your money will be gladly returned if you don't think them fine.

VOICE OF LABOR SPEAKS PLAINLY

Good Word For Harmon, Hogan, Donahue and Johnson.

The joint committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Ohio Federation of Labor, in an official report, have this to say regarding Governor Harmon's attitude toward labor: "For the past two years he has served as governor of Ohio, during which time he has been fair to the class of labor we represent, and signed all laws enacted in the interest of organized labor."

Of Timothy S. Hogan, Democratic candidate for attorney general, the report says: "An able lawyer and a strong advocate of the laboring people."

Another report deal extensively with the records of Judges Crew and Summers of the supreme court of Ohio, candidates on the Republican ticket for re-election, and with the qualifications of their opponents on the Democratic ticket, Judge Maurice H. Donahue of Perry county and H. Donahue, Perry county, and Judge James Johnson, Clarke county.

The report says that Judge W. B. Crew has been on the supreme bench since 1902, and during that time, in cases between workmen and companies, had voted upon 73 cases in favor of the company. In a very large percentage of these cases, one or both of the lower courts had ruled against the company.

Judge A. N. Summers has been on the bench since 1904, and has voted upon 68 cases in favor of the company, in most of which cases one or both lower courts had ruled against the company.

In nearly all of the cases quoted the report says that "the vote of both Judges Crew and Summers was on technical matters of law, or denied the right of trial by jury, or negated the defense of assumed risk or contributory negligence favorable to the company, or modified the degree of care that the company heretofore must exercise towards a person killed or injured in favor of the company."

Of the Democratic candidates, the report says Judge M. H. Donahue has been on the circuit bench since 1900. "Investigation of the cases upon which he has voted shows him to be eminently fair both to corporation and employees in passing judgment upon matters of contention between them."

James Johnson, Jr., is reported an able lawyer, 30 years of active practice and "established the right of a union to adopt and publish a label which no one has a right to use without the approval of the union."

The report says further: "The various decisions of the supreme court have caused the judges of the lower courts within the state to hesitate to render decisions favorable to the common people, feeling that their decisions will be revised when reaching the supreme court of the state."

In conclusion the committee says: "It now behooves you, as members of organized labor within the state of Ohio, to carefully study the records of the candidates for the high office of judge of the supreme court, and use your influence and vote in favor of only those who are ready and willing to interpret the laws and render a decision in favor of all classes alike, and as the facts presented in each case may warrant. We do not expect, nor do we request special privileges, but we do believe that the time has come when we should demand justice. You can and should decide this matter on Nov. 8."

The report is signed by John Voll, president; Harry D. Thomas, secretary-treasurer, Ohio State Federation of Labor; M. J. Murphy, chairman; J. H. Thompson, secretary, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

CREAMER'S RECORD IN THE TREASURY

Instead of Robbing the State He Increased Revenues.

At the close of the fiscal quarter ending Oct. 31, 1910, the records of the state treasury showed that by the system of competitive bids for state deposits which he inaugurated, State Treasurer Creamer collected from the time he went into that office, Jan. 11, 1909, to Nov. 1, 1910, the vast sum of $309,368.27 interest on deposits.

Another fact of equal importance is that THE STATE GOT ALL THE MONEY, for all of the people's money was working all the time for the people. The most that was received by the state in one year under the depository law by Creamer's predecessors when the state's cash balance was $1,000,000 larger than it is now was only $83,000.

Now if Creamer had been a "grafter," as Harding and his hard-up campaign mud-throaters have been trying to make appear, instead of having earned $309,368 for the state he would have turned in about $140,000 and the rest would have been "none of your business," as it was when McKinnon and Greene handled the state's money.

"The interests," which thrived off of the state treasury in former years, are most concerned in the effort that is made to blench Treasurer Creamer's unparalleled record by calling him a "grafter" because he collected $310.60 for personal expenses when he was state fire marshal, just as Former Attorney General Sheets said all state officials had been doing for so long that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

A man would have to be blind in both eyes with the blindest kind of partisan blindness who can see only a false graft charge of $310.60 trumped up against Creamer for campaign billingsgate and can not see the $309,368 he has earned for the state of Ohio as state treasurer by handling the state's funds in a way his predecessors did not handle them.

Bear in mind that the law does not require the state treasurer to put out state deposits by competitive bids. The attempt to include the competitive bid plan in the depository law when it was enacted was defeated by the influence of Gullbert and McKinnon, as admitted during this campaign by the state.

tenant governor, presided over the senate at the time. Bills to require competitive bids for state deposits were introduced at the session of 1909, and again in 1910, only to end in defeat. THE LAW DOES NOT REQUIRE THAT THE STATE FUNDS SHALL BE HANDLED IN THIS OPEN AND FAIR MANNER.

If Treasurer Creamer is defeated his successor can handle them as the funds were handled in former years.

The question that is to be decided by the people of Ohio next Tuesday, so far as the state treasury is concerned, is whether Creamer is to go on handling the people's money in their interest, or whether the treasury and the people's money are to fall back again into the clutches of the old band of treasury looters.

THE CHIEF POINT ABOUT GRAFTING

Harding Missed It Entirely in His Campaign Speeches.

"Mr. Harding misses the chief point in the matter of grafting by state officials," said Governor Harmon in his speech at Lorain. "It is ridiculous in him to call the amounts of public money taken by these men through their various devices 'petty grafting' and 'magnified misdemeanors.' Gullbert's bank has already paid back nearly $6,000. The indictments already found are for graft amounting to more than $50,000. Denman has brought suit on the bonds of Cameron and McKinnon only to recover nearly half a million dollars, and there are several suits still to be brought. The amount absorbed in the public works department is not yet known."

"But what has aroused the people of the state more than the number of officials and the large amounts involved is the attitude of the other Republican officials and the organization and press of that party. It has been one of bold denial and determination to cover up the graft and side with the grafters in the face not only of the strongest circumstances of suspicion, and in some cases plain proof, until the disclosures of last fall and winter drove them to change their course to that of themselves claiming credit for results they did their utmost to prevent."

"First came the defeat in the house of the resolution to investigate when the state treasurer refused to give that body information about the deposits of the public moneys."

"Then came the opposition to the like resolution in the senate which missed defeat only by one vote, and the constant obstruction and abuse of the committee which made the investigation."

"All through the ensuing campaign Governor Harris and his fellow officials and candidates assured the people there was nothing wrong anywhere, though the committee's report and that of Mark Slater's successor showed there was something wrong. The Republican state committee flooded the state with denials. So did the thick and thin Republican papers, including the one owned and edited by Mr. Harding."

"The unseemly action of the Republican leaders in tying my hands by confirming Governor Harris' appointments at the special session called just one week before my inauguration, was a confession of uneasiness. So was the unprecedented course of hanging the lieutenant governor on my back and heaping obstructions in my way when I asked for a commission to complete investigations which had been held up by court proceedings founded on trivial technicalities."

"All this alarmed the people because it showed that the officials engaged in robbing them were numerous and powerful enough to control the other state officers, the majority in the general assembly and the organization and most of the press of the dominant party."

"This accounts for my election as governor in the face of an immense majority for Taft. This set my chief task for me and has made the present state campaign turn on the question whether I have kept faith with the people or broken it."

Murderer at Bay Suicides.

Caruthersville Mo., Nov. 4.—Martin Rollins, who on Monday killed 16-year-old Annie Austin because she refused to elope with him, committed suicide in a barn southwest of Caruthersville. The fugitive, who was being hunted by Sheriff Franklin and a posse and trailed by bloodhounds in Arkansas, returned to the home of his former employer and there ended his life by blowing his brains out.

Depressing. We met the early bird and were amazed on glancing at our watches to discover that the hour of 7 had long since struck.

"You're not so early after all," we remarked significantly. "No," assented the early bird, looking very conscious all at once. "The fact is I got the lookworm."—Puck.
